

Challenging Behaviour Foundation Professionals Email Network

The Challenging Behaviour Foundation Professionals Linking Scheme is for professionals working in the field of challenging behaviour associated with severe learning disabilities.

The Challenging Behaviour Foundation Professionals' Email Network is unmoderated. This decision was reached after consultation with network members who overwhelmingly felt that an unmoderated network enables discussion of issues which allows practitioners to consider alternative views. The Challenging Behaviour Foundation (CBF) would like to encourage members to highlight any responses which they feel constitute unacceptable practice. To remind members that the network is unmoderated replies received from network members will be circulated with the following message: "Please note the Challenging Behaviour Foundation Professionals' Email Network is unmoderated. The opinions expressed are not necessarily those of the Challenging Behaviour Foundation."

The email network is primarily a discussion forum. The CBF will not normally circulate adverts from professionals/organisations external to the CBF. However the CBF reserves the right to inform network members of events which involve the CBF. The CBF will from time to time circulate questions from carers who require guidance on challenging behaviour input from members of the professionals email network in providing information for carers in such situations is appreciated. The CBF aims to promote and facilitate research into challenging behaviour associated with severe learning disabilities, and to disseminate the results of such research. From time to time information about research projects may be circulated to network members.
